

UNOBTRUSIVE STORAGE POCKET

Abstract

A system for storing personal items under a garment is provided.

The system includes a storage compartment defining a pocket and an opening for permitting access to the pocket. A storage compartment support member is attached to the storage compartment. The storage compartment support member includes a sleeve for receiving a support. Upon receiving the support, the storage compartment support member provides support for the storage compartment under the garment